

One of the greenest islands because it was able to preserve the characteristics of a mainly wild territory, despite the interest of some entrepreneurs in the last decade.

The hotels were built in Creole style. The island boasts a golf course with 18 holes, looking over the Ocean and reserved to a wealthy clientele.

The only inhabited centre is Charlestown. It is halfway of many itineraries for cruises in sailing boats in the Caribbean and Grenadines, therefore, you will easily pass by here onboard of your rented catamaran during your holidays in the Antilles
